LISTEN GOOD by Charlie Van Dyke

Bob Dayton and Charlie Van Dyke tour Northwest's 747

Always cool and level headed our Bob Dayton simply said "gooooo!!!!!!!!!!!!!!ly." Also several "Gee Whilakers" spoken softly. Actually both Bob and I were very much impressed by the largest plane in the Northwest fleet, the 747. Everything about the 747 is big. It holds 362 passengers. It has a crew of 18. It's 231 feet long, six stories high and weighs 778,000 pounds. It holds 51,000 gallons of fuel and can fly from Chicago to Tokyo nonstop.

While in the cockpit, Bob pointed out that they neglected to add a cigarette lighter and that their radio was not tuned to WDGY. Both Bob and I would like to thank Northwest Orient for an exciting first hand look at the worlds biggest commercial airliner.
